Taxpayers Will be Practically Voting for a New Loan two Years Hence-Facts and Figures A dvanced that Show Where the Interest of the Citizen Taxpayer Lies. Trades Assembly Declines to Act on the Refund Move.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR:-So far the Market street organ has not advanced any argument against the refunding loan. It is true it has published several articles on the subject, but all consist only of assertions that the faithful are expected to accept as true, because it is the organ's assertion. As to facts it presents none.

It has ascried that, refund or no refund, there will be no improvements made during the next four years without The statement is made, as from one having authority, and whose reason or motive, should not be questioned. It is so, because we say it is so. It further states that by the end of the next ten years we should have accumulated a very comfortable surplus, with which we can make the needed imthere are many well informed citizens who will be under obligations to the Register, if it will come out with facts and figures and show just where that surplus is to come from. floating debt of about $47,000 that is floating debt of about $47,000 that is bearing a bund issue at the rate of 6 per cent. We have a bond issue of $82,000, that will fall due July 1, 1900, making a total of $123,000 that will fall due July 1, 1900, making a total of $123,000 that will have to be taken care of and arranged for in the next two years and a half.

Now, every well posted man in council to-day, or that has been a member during the past six years, knows that it will be impossible to pay the above amount out of the general tax levy in that time, and keep up the necessary fixed expenses of the city. Having made a careful examination of the city statements during the past six years, the above fact shows toself very prominently.

Such being the case, THERE WILL BE BUT ONE THING TO DO in 1900.

Such being the case, THERE WILL BE BUT ONE THING TO DO in 1900, and it will be done, whether the council be Democratic or Republican, and THAT WILL BE TO GO BEFORE THE PEOPLE AND ASK FOR A NEW LOAN OF AT LEAST ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-SIX THOUSAND DOLLARS TO SAVE THE CITY'S CREDIT AND HONOR. That figure has been taken at the lowest possible limit, but I doubt very much if the amount required and asked for will be that small. With that point in view. I have compiled a few figures on the city amount required and asked for will be that small. With that point in view. I have compiled a few figures on the city debt at the present time and what it will be four and ten years later, under the old and new proposed way. Taking no account of the water works debt, which will adjust itself, without touching on the general levy. I find the debt of the city, including all bonds, outstanding orders, gas overdraft and unpaid balance on Main street bridge, December 31, 1891, to be $826,500. In the next four years, counting the new loan of 1900, I find that we will have to pay out of the general tax levy, on the old plan, on account of bonds and interest, $240,492, or an average per year of $80,123.

Year of $66,123.

Under the new proposition the amount in that time will be, $139,185 50, or an average per year of $34,791 87, making a difference in that time of a yearly average of $25,331 13, or in the four years time $191,324 52 that can be saved out of the general levy and applied to work on streets, sewers and other necessary work.

How will this effect the debt at the end of that time? Under the old arrangement the debt will be as follows:

 Six per cents
 $4,000

 Five per cents
 195,400

 Four and one-half per cents
 97,700

 Four per cents
 126,000

This shows that at this time our debt is larger under the new but the rate of interest is less in proportion and we have been able to give to the taxpayer over $100,000 in improvements that, in many cases, will be also improvements to addiscent forces.

In regard to the Register's statement that we will be out of debt in ten years, it knows that is not so. At the end of ten years the city debt will be under the old way, $354,850; under the new it will be $551,200. The interest paid in the ten years under the old way and no improvements, will be $229,507,50; under the new it will be $352,197,50, a difference only of $22,600, and an actual saving to the city towards repairs and improvements of about $165,000, in that time.

These figures are all made up from detailed statement, on each loan of the that we will be out of debt in ten years, it ralled statement, on each loan of the city, and can very easily be verified.

Any one who will carefully analyze them will soon see that as a business proposi-tion, the refunding ordinance should by all means receive the support of all good all means receive the support of party.

SCHOOL MELANGE.

During the last two weeks of June and the first week of July, 1898, Wheeling will be almost surfeited with food of an intellectual nature. According to the yearly custom, the school commissioners will be held June 23 and 24, as the school year closes the last Friday of June 25-29 the Epworth League convention will be held, while on June 29 and 30 and July 1, the West Virginia 29 and 39 and July 1, the West Virginia Educational Association will hold its annual meeting in our city. Both of the conventions will be notable ones; the former on account of its size, as at least 5,000 visitors are expected, while at the latter, no doubt, 500 of the teachers of the state will be in attendance. Committees are as work making arrangements for both meetings, and such arrangements must be made as will cause the visitors to take away with them pleasant recollections of Wheeling. It may be unfortunate that the them pleasant recollections of Wheeling. It may be unfortunate that the two meetings come so closely together, but it cannot be helped and doubtless many will come to the former meeting from our own state who will remain for the latter. The two committees might be able to assist each other in the work of preparation.

An earnest effort is being made by all the principals and teachers of the public schools to have as little tardiness as possible, which is very commendable; but it is a question worthy of consideration, whether this does not lead to a greater evil than taridness, I. e., ness, which in nine cases out of ten, ness, which in nine cases out of ten, does not amount to more than two or three minutes each time tardy. The evil referred to, is that pupils when they find out they are likely to be tardy, will go back home and remain away during that entire session of the school. This gives an absent mark instead of a tardy one, and the per cent of a trendance is thus made lower. But this is the least harm done, for the pupil misses the entire work of the session and the teacher must very often give and the teacher must very often give extra work to enable the ones thus abextra work to chable the ones thus ab-senting themselves to get along credit-ably with their classes. Parents should co-operate with the teacher, in trying to correct both evils mentioned, especi-ally the latter, for it is a great deal worse for the pupil to be absent than to

There is a complaint often heard that our schools are not preparing our boys and girls for the business of life, that they are not taught to think, etc., etc. While we may be forced to admit that some of our boys and girls do not learn to think while at school, it is because they do not remain long enough at school. The graduates of our schools school. The graduates of our schools are young men and women who as a class, rank among the very best young people of the city, and as thinkers will compare very favorably with those educated at private schools. Our public schools are to give an education that will enable the recipients to succeed well in life, even if they fall to get any more school training, and they will give your school training, and they will give more school training, and they will give it, if the boys and girls remain long it, if the boys and girls remain long enough in school to receive it. They also lay the very best foundation that can be laid for a higher education. The longer the boys, especially, can be kept in our public schools, the greater will be the number who will attend our higher institutions of learning. Fathers and mothers ought to awaken to the fact that their boys are not being educated as they should be. Many of our bright young men in the city of Wheeling are starting on the journey of life bright young men in the city of Wheeling are starting on the journey of life as mediocres, who would be leaders had they sufficient education. Some of them may become such good learners in the school of life, that they will become leaders, but this is not probable. The young man with a good school education and the genuine ability along with it, begins the race of life far in advance of those who fail to get the education.
Are teachers and parents deing all they can to keep the boys in school? This is can to keep the boys in school? This is the live question, educationally, to-day. Our boys feave school too soon. Some-thing must be done to prevent it. Our high school ought to offer more induce-ments for boys than it does. There ought to be just as many boys as girts in it, but this is far from being the case.

SERMON TO YOUNG MEN.

Rev. Dr Sooy Delivered the Fourth of his Series Last Night. Rev. J. L. Sooy, pastor of Fourth street M. E. church, last night delivered the fourth of a series of sermons to young men. His text was the fifth commandment, "Honor thy father and mother," and he was listened to by a

Dr. Sooy compared youth to the May ery large congregation. of a young man or young woman into life was the important step of their lives; it prefaced what was to follow; it was to be or not be a noble man, to be or not to be a noble woman. The young man or young woman who went out into the world, following the injunctions of father and mother would never out into the world, following the injunc-tions of father and mother would never go wrong. They seemed, however, to chafe under the wholesome restraints of home. But outside of the Christian religion was "honor thy father and mother obeyed." The heathen children don't need to be commanded to do it; they defer to old age with commend-able respect.

Dr. Sooy condemned the habit some young men have of referring to their father as the "old man," or "the gover-nor," and he scored the habit in strong words. Incidentally, he related the pleasure it gave him once of hearing a young man, her permission of his young man beg permission of his father, using the familiar term of "dad," and was not ashamed of it, although on the deck of the boat where the incident occurred, a score of people were within hearing distance. Garfield's love for his mother and his demonstrations of it were also warmly eulogized by the speaker.

his mother and his demonstrations of it were also warmly eulogized by the speaker.

He referred to a foreign writer, and said there was much truth in his characterization of the American boy. It was said of him by the foreigner that the American boy spends most of his time smoking or chewing when "the old man ain't around," thinking it great honor to whip their school teacher; thinking that their father and mother are reservoirs of mothey and furnishings for them. And another deplorable feature of the boy's make up is that he is ashamed to be seen with his sister; he thinks it isn't manly. Not only should the father and mother be honored while they are living, but also after their gray hairs are borne to the grave. Their teachings should be honored by the children as long as their children live, It is true that the promise made by God that the man's flays will be long in the land, if he obeys the fifth commandment. It is just as true as the promise, "Come all ye heavy laden, and I will give you rest." Reward as promised will surely follow the observance of this commandment. The boy with filial piety will become a prosperous man. Heeding the home teachings, he will become a good citizen. The obedient boy, obedient at home and at school, will be obedient to the laws. "Ask the convict behind, the prison walls what brought him there," said Dr. Sooy, "and he will go back to the time when he was a disobedient boy, In every case he will trace it to disobedience. In many cases, if not always, a man who has trouble with his boy, will tell you that when he was a boy he was disobedient to has father? And mother's blessings will hover over you like kalos of light. What a blight to leave your home, young man or young woman, with your mether's curse." Concluding, Dr. Sooy ursed young

N. S. Thomas Spoke-Membership Contest Closes Thanksgiving.

The regular men's meeting at the asso lation building yesterday was addressed by Rev. N. S. Thomas, of St. Matthews P. E. church, Mr. Thomas made brief talk, in which he forcibly presented the fact that Christianity required work all the time. He paid the Y. M. C. A. fitting tribute for its work among young men.

The Y, M. C. A. membership contest which has been in progress for several weeks has aroused great interest. The winner will be announced Thanksgiving evening, when the annual reception occurs. The contest is between the "reds, whites, and blues," and a similar contest last year resulted in a remarkable increase in membership.

At Melbourne—Largest Business Houses of City-Hurned—Loss Over $5,000,000. MELBOURNE, Nov. 21 .- A great fire broke out here at 2 o'clock this morning and despite the desperate efforts of the firemen the entire block bound by Elizabth, Flinders and Swanston streets and Flinders Lane, with the exception of two buildings on the Swanston street front buildings on the Swanston street frost, were deartoyed within three hours. This is located in the very heart of the city. A strong wind was blowing and the fiery fanned fiames rapidly enguifed many of the larger business houses in Melbourne. The buildings were completely gutted. As most of them contained soft goods, the flames progressed with a rapidity which defied all checking and in the furious wind ashes and burning debris were carried into the suburbs, a distance of two miles.

It is estimated that the loss will reach $5,000,000, while the trade has received a serious setback. Hundreds of employes of all sorts have been suddenly thrown
